—Henry Chapple is at work painting Dan Seybert's barn in South Dixon.

—The Brierton school board has rehired Miss Ethel Halstead for the coming term.

—Miss Galt who has been visiting with Mrs. C. W. Schick several days returned home to Sterling last evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Armington are moving into their new home, corner of North Dixon avenue and Morgan street.

—W. H. Steel, formerly of Grand Detour, is building a residence and drilling a well in North Dixon, near the depot.

—The sheriff's sale of the Spring Motor company's plant and fixtures will be held on Saturday, August 17th at 2 p. m. It is hoped that a bicycle factory will next occupy the building.

—There were no less than fifty-two applications for the vacant position of superintendent of public schools of Freeport, from which the board selected R. S. Page of Ogden, Utah. If the selection is not a good one it was not for want of a sufficient variety to choose from. We think, however, the board need have gone no further than our sister city of Sterling to have found in Mr. Bayliss a man perfectly competent to fill the bill.

—Warden Allen of the Joliet penitentiary has informed the Attorney General that he has received from Cook county sixteen prisoners convicted and sentenced since July 1st, whose sentences in each case were fixed by the court, instead of being made indeterminate as provided by the new law for the paroling of convicts. The warden desires to know what he should do about it and the Attorney General confesses that he don't know. Great head that for an Attorney General.

BONAPARTE'S ALARM.

He Feared He Was to Be Arrested at the House of Talleyrand.

A sufficient military force having been made ready, it was determined at a secret meeting of the Bonapartists, held on 15 Brumaire (Nov. 7), that the blow should be struck three days later. To that end the ancients were to meet, according to the programme, on the morning of 17 Brumaire, and summon both assemblies to hold a session on 18 Brumaire at St. Cloud. Under a provision of the constitution whenever an amendment to that document was to be considered the two bodies were to sit outside the walls of Paris. This move would naturally excite considerable suspicion among the uninitiated, and although there might be no disorder there would certainly be much heated discussion in the streets. Still greater was the danger which lay in the temper of the troops. Enthusiastic for what they felt to be still the republic, every appearance of offering violence to any and all avowed republicans like those who sat among the 500 must be avoided. The solution of this latter problem was really the key to the whole combination. Success would depend entirely on the momentary instinct of plain, honest republican soldiers taken unawares.

Minor troubles there were also. Sieyes, sensitive under the evident determination of Bonaparte to use him only so long as he was necessary, became restive, and it required the nicest balancing of interests to keep him temporarily in the traces. It was a time of terrible anxiety to the conspirators. Talleyrand never forgot a scene which took place at his house in the Rue Taitobut a few nights antecedent to the crisis. He and Bonaparte were still deep in conversation about 1 in the morning when they heard the rumbling of carriage wheels and the ring of cavalry hoofs in the street. Suddenly both ceased. They had paused at the door. Bonaparte turned pale and Talleyrand also as they paused and listened, fully convinced that both were to be arrested. The latter blew out the candles and hurried through a passageway to gain a view of the street. After some delay he discovered that the carriage of a gambling house keeper, returning under police escort from the Palais Royal with his spoils, had broken down. His fears relieved, he returned to joke with Bonaparte about the scare.

Before the appointed day, however, everything which master schemers could foresee was carefully adjusted and in equilibrium. The apparent resurrection of Jacobinism was actually the last appearance of its ghost, for the directory, shorn of all prestige, was divided and shaky. The army, republican to the core, was weary with its inefficiency and furious with its bankruptcy. The mass of the nation, conservative and royalist, despaired of a restoration, and sick of war were for the moment in a humor to accept any strong government. The majority of the administration, the nation and the army were therefore in readiness, while the numerous malcontents in each were at least temporarily silenced. Every little hidden wire of private interest was in hand, and plans were ripe to coerce those who could not be cajoled.—Professor W. M. Sloane's "Life of Napoleon" in Century.

WHITE METAL MEN.

Council of Free Coinage Democrats at Washington.

TWENTY-TWO STATES REPRESENTED

Majority Being from the South and West—Committee on Platform and Programme Finds Some Points of Friction and Takes Time to Consider—Representative Towne Speaks for Silver—Republican League Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—When the roll was called at the Democratic silver conference representatives answered from twenty-two different states, but names were given to the secretary of only nineteen. Virginia headed the list in point of numbers with fifteen delegates, while Illinois and Missouri reported fourteen each. Other states represented were: Alabama, 4; Ohio, 1; Georgia, 2; Indiana, 1; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 3; Kentucky, 1; Mississippi, 1; North Dakota, 1; West Virginia, 2; Arkansas, 3; Colorado, 3; South Caorlina, 1; North Carolina, 3; Florida, 4, and Tennessee, 4. Senator Jones was temporary chairman and one of the busiest men on the floor was Senator Daniel. A committee was appointed to prepare a programme and resolutions and a recess taken to 4 p. m.

Some Difference of Opinion Develops.

At 4 o'clock the committee on programme and platform reported through Senator Daniel that it was unable to report, whereupon the conference decided to adjourn until today. It is generally understood among the delegates that the important work of the conference is being done by the committee. When Senator Daniel reported the committee had not authorized the drafting of a platform, and none of the members was able to say when the report would be completed. The proceedings of the committee developed some difference of opinion as to the line of policy to be recommended, but these were not of a sufficiently radical nature to cause apprehension of serious delay.

Immediately after the adjournment of the conference for the day the programme and resolution committee was called together and remained in session for several hours. It was decided to relegate the work of the formation of a scheme of organization and the preparation of the platform or address to the people to a sub-committee of eight, of which Senator Daniel, of Virginia, is chairman. This sub-committee assembled during the evening, and after some hours of consultation practically agreed on the basis of a report which will be presented to the full committee and later to the conference.

Forecast of the Coming Report.

The committee proceedings indicated that the report when made will recommend the issuance of an address to the Democratic party of the country urging in very strong terms the maintenance of the silver cause in the Democratic ranks, and also outlining a plan for the organization of the silver forces in the party with a view to the selection of delegates to the next national convention. This plan will probably embrace the appointment a central committee with a member from each state and territory, who shall in turn select a member for every county, the latter to have the power to appoint a member for every voting precinct in his county. The plan includes a provision for a national headquarters, probably at Washington.

Will Deal with Finance Only.

The address to the people will be brief and will declare in unequivocal terms the attitude of the conference on the silver question, favorable to coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1. The present understanding is that no other subject but that of finance will be embodied in the address.

HE FAVORS GOING IT ALONE.

Provided Europe Will Not Agree to Free Coinage of Silver.

DULUTH, Aug. 15.—Congressman Chas. A. Towne delivered an elaborate address on the currency question at the Temple Opera House in this city last night. The address was given under the auspices of the Gold and Silver club of Duluth, an organization composed of members of all political parties. Towne argued at great length in favor of bimetallism by international agreement at a ratio of 16 to 1. He stated that he believed that the recent overwhelming success of the Conservatives in Great Britain was due in a great measure to the movement there in favor of bimetallism.

"If, however, that hope is to be disappointed," said he; "if the gold owners of the world shall be able to prevent such a consummation, then I have to say that I shall favor cutting the 'Gordian knot,' and that the United States of America, the home of the free men, the hope of the sacred cause of free government, the richest, strongest country on the face of the earth, shall lead the way out of the tyranny of the single gold standard. I should not expect it to be done without some hardships, though I hope to show that there is good reason to think them very much overestimated by timorous bimetallists; while as for many of the gruesome prophcies of the gold men, they are as purely creatures of fancy as the nursery bogie man."

Headquarters of the National Republican League Likely to Go Elsewhere.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Chicago is to be deserted for Washington or New York by the National Republican league. The executive committee of the league met at the Great Northern hotel. Though no final action was taken Secretary Dowling admitted after the morning session had adjourned that things looked pretty gloomy for Chicago. "Nobody seems to know that the headquarters of the National Republican league are located in this city," complained Secretary Dowling to the newspaper men. "Nobody has come up and seen us. Even the reporters have given us the go-by. We seem to have been placed under a sort of boycott."

At this opportune moment a telegram was received from Committeeman D. A. Ray, of Washington, who tendered the national committee in the name of the Republican clubs in the District of Columbia a suite of rooms at Willard's hotel free and without cost from Sept. 1, 1895, to Sept. 1, 1896, if only they would consent to transport their headquarters and set them down in this new Washingtonian home. As the committee is now paying $75 a month for a suite of three rooms in the Hartford building, this offer from the capitol fell upon willing ears.

It would have been accepted if Committeeman Brewster had not demanded delay until New York could be heard from. The committee fixed the salary of secretary at $3,000 per annum, beginning Aug. 1.

By unanimous vote the executive committee chose Aaron J. Bliss, of Saginaw, Mich., treasurer of the league and treasurer ex-officio of the executive body. The committee on league work was appointed, consisting of John Goodnow, of Minnesota; P. F. Powers, of Michigan; George Christ, of Arizona, and the president and secretary, whose business shall be to map out a plan of operation for the various state and territorial organizations. Before adjourning Senator John M. Thurston, General James S. Clarkson, W. W. Tracy and A. B. Humphrey were made advisory members of the executive committee. The matter of locating headquarters was passed until the regular October session.

Maryland Republicans in Council.

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 15.—The Republican state convention which assembled here today promises to be the most spirited gathering of the party in years. The friends of Lloyd Lowndes claim that he will be nominated for the governorship on the first ballot, with plenty of votes to spare. The opposition to Lowndes centers around William T. Malster, and the contest is becoming somewhat personal. Aside from the gubernatorial contest the main interest attaches to the platform. The leaders say there will be a strong and unqualified expression of the "sound money" idea in national finance.

SHRINE FOR THE FAITHFUL.

Pilgrims of New York Going to Visit Our Lady of Martyrs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Several hundred Roman Catholics from this city and Brooklyn and as many more from Philadelphia will at once begin a pilgrimage to the shrine of Our Lady of Martyrs near Auriesville, N. Y. A special mass was said in St. Francis Xavier's church in this city yesterday the 249th anniversary of the martyrdom of Jesuit missionaries. The shrine was formally opened to pilgrims this summer on July 31 by Father O'Sullivan, of St. Francis Xavier's church.

Auriesville, which, 249 years ago, was the scene of the devotions of Father Isaac Jogues and of Father Rene Goupil, was also the scene of the labors of Kate Tegakwitha, the Lily of the Mohawk, to convert the members of her tribe, and around the inclosure attached to the shrine have been erected crosses, while a mound in the center has been transformed into a Calvary, having three large crosses bearing life-size figures commemorating the death of the Saviour. A Jesuit father will say mass there every morning until the end of August.

BEEN ROBBING CARS FOR MONTHS.

Gang of Thieves That Peddled Their Swag to Farmers.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 15.—John Desmond, who has been arrested here, has confessed that he is a member of a gang of thieves which has plundered Chicago and Northwestern and St. Paul freight cars in the northern part of the state for months past. Cars at Oshkosh, Neenah, Kaukauna, Fond du Lac and other towns had been broken into and the contents, particularly shoes, stolen. Marshall Field, this county, and the Smith-Wallace Shoe company, of Chicago, and the Jung shoe manufactory, of Sheboygan, have been the principal sufferers. The goods were peddled out to farmers.

OFFERS TO ASSASSINATE CAMPOS.

Francesco Coralo, a Mexican, Wants to Make Himself a Name.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Francesco Coralo, a Mexican, called upon M. De Quesada, at the revolutionary headquarters, and offered his services as a fighter. Quesada told him that it was against the law to recruit men in the United States, and declined to deal with him. To the reporters Coralo said: "I speak Castilian, and I can put on the uniform and pass as a Spanish soldier. In that disguise I will go to Campos' tent and kill him. Of course I shall be killed by his guards, but I do not fear death, anyhow."

Miners Strike Without Warning.

FLORENCE, Wis., Aug. 15.—The miners at the Badger mine struck without warning and as yet have not made known their wants. Manager Davidson says his company is now paying better wages than any mine on the range, and the strike is a great surprise to him. He says he will make no concessions or overtures to have them return. If the men return voluntarily mining will be resumed, otherwise the mine will be closed until next spring. About 400 men were employed.

Syndicate Keeps Up the Reserve.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—United States Treasurer Morgan received a telegram from Assistant Treasurer Jordan at New York stating that the bond syndicate had deposited $1,656,000 in gold in exchange for legal tenders, and later in the day another telegram was received stating that $1,150,000 in gold had been withdrawn for export to Europe. This leaves the gold reserve at the close of business $102,431,001.

Purchases a Right-of-Way.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Aug. 15.—An eastern syndicate represented by F. H. Clergue has purchased outright the right-of-way of the old St. Mary's Falls Water Power company which, after expending $350,000 on the canal seven years ago stopped work on account of lack of funds. Later the canal was sold under mortgage foreclosure and the last sale was made by the mortgagees. The amount paid was $70,000.

May Not Have to Go to the Pen.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 15.—A Pierre, S. D., special to The Journal says: The attorneys of W. W. Taylor are jubilant in the belief that their client will not even begin to serve out the five-year sentence imposed on him by Judge Caffey. They will apply to the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that two years is the longest sentence permissible under the statute invoked by the lower court.

Found Some Counterfeit Money.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 15.—Two boys presented counterfeit silver dollars to the bank at Marion. They said they found a bag containing $70 in the sand along the railroad track. A later search uncovered $60 in halves. The United States marshal is investigating.

FLASH IN THE PAN.

The Expected Turbulence at Nebraska's Metropolis.

LOOKS PRETTY STORMY FOR A TIME,

But Calms Down to a Conference Between the Opposing Boards in Which a Compromise is Arranged—Matter To Be Referred to the State Supreme Court, and an Early Decision Will Be Had of the Disputed Point.

OMAHA, Aug. 15.—All probability of a resort to arms to settle the municipal muddle over the rival police commissions is now very remote, but for two hours it looked very much as though a serious collision was inevitable. The sidewalks and streets surrounding the city hall were crowded with people, and the interior of the building was crowded with sheriffs and officers. The new commission convened at 10 a. m. amid considerable excitement. The members were encouraged with cheers from 200 friends. They were expected to at once place a rival police force on the streets of the city, attempt to oust Chief of Police White, and storm the city hall. This was the schedule as given out by those supposed to be on the "inside."

Agreed to Confer with the "Ins."

The situation was intensified by the report from Kansas City that the A. P. A. councils there had 5,000 armed men ready to send to Omaha to maintain the new commission. At the same time the old committee was in the mayor's office ready to issue orders and repel any force necessary to maintain its position. After a brief conference the new commission concluded to confer with the old board before resorting to arms. The conference was the result of a letter which Mayor Bemis sent to the new board asking the members to meet the old board and endeavor to reach a peaceable settlement of the controversy. The members of the new board replied that they had decided to meet Mayor Bemis and his colleagues, and the mayor replied that they were ready.

Wires to Governor and Court.

The two boards remained closeted for an hour or more. When the door was opened it was announced that an agreement had been reached. Mayor Bemis then sent a telegram signed by himself, as chairman of the old board, and by W. J. Broatch, as chairman of the new board, to Governor Holcomb and A. S. Churchill, attorney general, as follows: "If the supreme court will meet at an early date, all the members of the two boards of fire and police commissioners will unite in a request for an early hearing. Can you get the court to fix a short date? Answer." This telegram was sent to each of the justices of the supreme court: "All parties agree to submit police matters to supreme court if early hearing can be had."

Each Side Disclaims Concessions.

This was also signed by the chairman of each board. They wanted it understood that neither board had made any concessions. Each side stood as it had before and in that respect there was no change in the situation. They had simply agreed that the best interests of all concerned would be served by an immediate submission of the controversy to the supreme court, and they had united to that end.

Reticent About the Future.

Members of the new board are reticent in regard to what their next procedure would be. When Vandervoort was asked whether the new board would proceed to organize a police force in opposition to that controlled by the old board he would not answer directly, but stated that neither board was going to be very hard on the other while the matter was pending before the supreme court.

Will Hear the Case Today.

Chief Justice Norval, of the state supreme court, announced late last evening that a special session of the court will be held today to settle the Omaha case.

ARMED MEN FROM KANSAS CITY.

Thousands of A. P. A. Men Ready to March on to Omaha.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15.—The Star publishes a story to the effect that several thousands of A. P. A. members in Kansas City are watching the controversy in Omaha with great interest. It leaked out that at a meeting of the advisory board of Jackson county resolutions were adopted offering substantial aid to their Nebraska friends.

One of the most reliable members of the order told a Star reporter that if the Omaha police commissioners wanted 5,000 men they could get them in Kansas City in less than twenty-four hours.

"Do you mean that you are going up there with Winchesters to raise a war?" was asked.

"You don't think we would go empty handed just to look on, do you?" was the reply.

Germany Makes the Amende.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The state department has received a dispatch from Secretary of Legation Jackson, charge d'affaires at the embassy of the United States at Berlin, giving a statement concerning the arrest of two American citizens—Fred and Ferdinand Kort. These men were naturalized at Chicago in 1894. Later they made a visit to Germany, were arrested and fined 150 marks for failure to perform military duty. The German authorities upon an investigation undertaken at the instance of the American embassy annulled the proceedings and ordered the return of the money.

SOLID WESTERN GLASS COMBINE.

Practically All the Factories This Side of Pittsburg Taken In.

ANDERSON, Ind., Aug. 15.—A supplementary meeting of the glass manufacturers' trust held in Indianapolis was held here last night. Only twelve leading companies were in the glass trust before, but last night thirty-one were taken in, which practically includes all west of Pittsburg. This makes the combination solid and able to control the markets in future. A similar movement is working east of Pittsburg, and the two districts are working in connection.

All plants will probably be closed until the supply is worked off clean. The new combination controls 800 pots, more than half of those that are alive. The volume of business they will do is about $8,000,000 annually. The headquarters will be located in Muncie and another meeting will be held here next Tuesday to select officers.

TWO LIVES FOR ONE

Father and Son Hangsd on the Same Tree by a Mob.

SHERIFF KNEW WHAT WAS COMING,

But Took No Efficient Measures to Uphold the "Majesty of the Law"—Triple Tragedy at Chicago—Two Women and a Miscreant Shot—Beautiful Illustration of Our Advanced Civilization Preparing in Missouri—Criminal Record.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Aug. 15.—Samuel Vinson and his son Charles were lynched here for the murder during a drunken row on Sunday of Mike Kehlopp, a saloonkeeper. The ringing of fire bells was the signal for the crowd to assemble, and within three minutes a mob was battering down the doors of the county jail. It took an hour and a half to overpower the guards and force an entrance to the jail. The victims were walked three blocks to a tree. The elder Vinson was soon strung up. Then some one said to Charles Vinson: "Your pa is up there; go and see him." The two men were hanged to the same limb, their faces six inches apart.

Sheriff Knew What Was Coming.

The bodies were allowed to hang after the mob dispersed. The sheriff was aware of the plan to lynch the Vinsons, and although he had extra deputies on duty at the jail no violent measures were taken against the mob. Charles Vinson conspired with others to hold up a Northern Pacific train last April. He informed on his confederates, who were caught at their rendezvous. He had previously served a term in the state prison.

WORK OF A CHICAGO DASTARD.

Kills a Woman Because She Will Not Live with Him.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Frank Sweet, janitor, fatally shot Mrs. Alice Burr last night, slightly wounded Mrs. J. B. Nichols, and then put a bullet through his own brain. Sweet was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Burr, and desired her to come and live with him. She had left her husband on a former occasion, and had announced her intention of going back to him. Sweet combatted her resolution and last night visited her house for the purpose of getting her to leave her husband.

She refused and he at once shot her through the neck. Mrs. Nichols was struck by a bullet which Sweet intended for the husband of the woman he had fatally shot. Sweet was janitor of the Champlain building, one of the finest office buildings in Chicago.

BACK INTO THE MIDDLE AGES.

An Infamy That Some "Best Citizens" of Missouri Are Preparing.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—Emmet Divers, the negro who assaulted and murdered a woman in Fulton, Mo., has been sent to that place from St. Louis. Reports sent in to The Republic are to the effect that every saloon in Fulton is closed by order of the mayor, and will remain closed until after it is known whether or not Divers will be taken back there. All the roads leading into Fulton are guarded by squads of men, and all trains passing through the town are watched and searched.

All business in Fulton is at a standstill, and nearly all the men are armed, waiting and more than willing to mob the negro. If Divers is taken in the day time he will be held until night, tied in a cabin and the torch applied. This has been agreed upon.

Authorities Afraid to Do Their Duty.

COMO, Colo., Aug. 15.—Bill Gibson, who shot and killed Marshal Shea at Victor, and his brother Patrick, whom he freed from custody, are in Fair Play and offer to surrender on condition that they shall not be taken to Victor, where they say they would be hanged without a hearing. The Fair Play authorities are afraid to attempt to arrest them.

He Is Worse Than a Horsethief.

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 15.—William J. Clark, in jail here as an alleged horsethief, has been recognized by Laura May Hershy, aged 12, as George W. Vanweiks, who employed her as a companion for his wife in Massillon. Before arriving there he criminally assaulted her and frightened her into silence, and then soon after abandoned her.

Had to Have Some Sort of Mob.

LARUE, O., Aug. 15.—Nick Tyler and his son, Nick, Jr., did not wash often enough to suit their neighbors, who took father and son to the Scioto river and gave them an old-fashioned scrubbing. The two Nicks fought lustily without success. They have brought suit charging assault and battery.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Commits Murder.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—As a result of a quarrel Charles Jackson, a colored boy 10 years old, wounded George Quimby, also colored and the same age, over the head with a sharp-edged brick. Quimby's skull was fractured and he will die.

Shot Dead at a Campmeeting.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15.—Daniel Farlow, a well-to-do resident of Pittsville, Md., was shot dead in campmeeting at Melson's last evening by Gardner Calloway. He claimed that Farlow had insulted his mother.

Smashed the Ten-Mile Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The most notable achievement of the day at the Manhattan Beach cycling events was the smashing of the record in the ten-mile match race between Harry Maddox, holder of the record of 21:43 3-5, and Titus. Maddox dropped out before the end of the second mile and Titus cut out the pace for the pacers, doing the ten miles in 20:58 3-5.

Jennie Was too Sharp for Them.

PERRY, O. T., Aug. 15.—Deputy Marshals have arrested the notorious Jennie Metcalf east of here, but she stole an officer's horse and fled. She was formerly Jennie Stephens, and is a cousin to Bill Dalton, and not an officer in the territory is a better shot than she. Although only 18 years old she is said to have sold more whisky to Indians than the oldest offender.

Frank Annis Declared Not Guilty.

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 15.—After a seven days' trial the jury in the case of Frank Annis, accused of causing his wife's death by setting fire to their home while she was asleep, has rendered a verdict of not guilty.

BEARS THAT CATCH SALMON.

Easy Fishing and Good Fish In the Teeming Waters of Alaska.

"Most bears catch fish if they have a chance," said Dr. Tarleton H. Bean, formerly icthyologist of the United States fish commission and now superintendent of the New York aquarium, "but they don't all have as easy fishing or as good fish to eat as the bears in Alaska. There the bears catch salmon. In the spawning season the fish are so thick in the streams that the bear has simply to stand on the bank and pick out the fish he wants. The salmon run up the rivers from the ocean. Some great streams they follow for hundreds of miles, seeking the headwaters. It is the common belief that from these long journeys the salmon never returns alive. Worn and emaciated, often wounded by contact with stones and roots in its long and toilsome journey, it deposits its spawn and dies in its effort to regain the sea.

"The salmon seek smaller streams as well. On the island of Kadiak, for instance, in the gulf of Alaska, they run in great numbers up the Karluk river, about 20 miles to its source in Karluk lake, which is eight miles long, three or four miles wide and so deep that no line yet dropped in it has reached the bottom. The salmon spawn in the lake, in the shallow places along the shore and in the little streams tributary to it. These little streams may be in some places so shallow as to contain scarcely enough water to float the fish; its back fin and the top of its back may be out of water. The salmon of the Karluk river is the red salmon, the great salmon of commerce. It attains a length of nearly three feet and a weight of 10 to 12 pounds.

"Various birds eat many of the smaller salmon, and small fishes of other kinds eat many of the salmon eggs. The bears eat the grown fish as they pass up or down the stream on the way to or from their spawning places. The bear of Kadiak is the grizzly. It may grow to weigh 1,000 pounds or more, though that would be one of unusual size. Four hundred pounds would be much nearer the average weight. It is the common habit of the bear in Alaska to catch salmon. Every year when the salmon season begins, which is in the summer, the bears go to the streams to fish, and they fish all through the season as long as the fish continue to run.

"The country around the Karluk lake is wooded, the timber being chiefly cottonwood. There are places on the river where there is tall grass, perhaps six feet in height. It may be that a grizzly will be seen coming down out of the woods on all fours, or you may see one, alarmed at something while on its way to the river, standing up in the grass, its head appearing above the top of it.

"The bear is a good swimmer, but he doesn't need to do any swimming here. He stands with his hind feet on the bank and his fore feet in shoal water and looks straight ahead. The fish swim past in endless procession and close in to the banks, looking for springs, little streams, cool places where they like to deposit their eggs. The bear looks ahead intently. I have never stood near enough to a bear that was fishing to see that he selects out of the many constantly passing a particular fish, one that pleases his fancy. He slaps the salmon out of the water and up on the bank and turns and eats it while it is still alive. She bears take their cubs to the river and feed them there on salmon and incidentally teach them to fish."—New York Sun.

Artificial Snow.

A curious instance of the formation of snow was witnessed at Agen, France. A fire broke out in a sawmill when the temperature was 10 degrees C. below the freezing point. The water thrown upon it was instantly vaporized, and, rising into the cold, dry air, was immediately condensed and fell as snow. What with bright starlight and a strong northwest wind blowing, the whirling snow above and the raging fire below, a brilliant spectacle was presented.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Dead Give Away.

He was in Chicago.

He had signed his name in the hotel register, "John Smith, N. Y."

Then he went out to wait for a car.

He stood on the near side of the street.

The fly clerk noticed this, and as he deftly inserted the word "Brooklyn" before the "N. Y." he whistled softly a few bars of "The Liars' Club March."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Dante's Beatrice.

The style of beauty possessed by Dante's Beatrice is uncertain. She is described by one authority as a brunette, by another as a golden haired blond. If she was the latter, the golden hair was artificially colored, in accordance with a custom then prevalent in Italy of blonding the hair by the use of honey and sulphur.

A SWEET PLACE.

Grasse Is One of the Fairest Gardens In All Europe.

To speak literally, one of the "sweetest" places in all Europe is Grasse, the garden of Provence and, after Paris, the most extensive manufactory of perfumery in France. A writer says of it that the air, half sea and half mountain air, is scented with the fragrance of roses and orange flowers, and whithersoever one goes not a bare patch of ground is to be seen. No fruit tree that will grow or sweet scented flower which can be made to yield up its essence is neglected here.

As all the best roses are gathered in the early morning before the sun has touched them, it is only in private gardens that one should look for roses later in the day. Chief among them is the lovely little yellow rose, which flowers in a profusion unimagined by dwellers in the north. It flings one flower laden spray over another until one might bury the arm in clusters of cool roses to the depth of a third of a yard.

Everything flourishes at Grasse. "I shall not stay here," said a young German gardener, who had gone south to study his occupation under new conditions. "There is nothing to learn here. Nature works with you. I shall go to England."

Grasse has for some centuries been celebrated for perfumes, for scented oils and soaps. Many a process has to be gone through before either soaps, perfumes or toilet waters receive a being. Little can be seen of the gathering unless it be that of the orange blossoms, when men and women work their way into the densest part of the closely growing, round topped trees and stay there as if they had been capriciously stuck in by some powerful enemy and left there.

The orange scent produces something like hay fever, except that it is more serious. The pollen also acts as a sort of poison, and, though the odd, broad bonneted figures look as if they were so firmly wedged into the trees that nothing could dislodge them, they frequently startle the bystanders by falling fainting to the ground.

When the sacks of flowers reach the manufactory, they are weighed, and their contents are tumbled out on long tables, where they lie in heaps nearly a yard high. The floor, too, is covered, leaving narrow footpaths for the work people. Here at the table the townspeople sit picking off petals and laughing and talking, for they are paid by weight and so are allowed such liberty of behavior.

When the rose leaves have passed from their hands, they are shot down through a trapdoor at the other end of the building and thrust into caldrons of boiling lard. There the perfume, the soul of the flower, is caught and imprisoned.

Most of the perfumes are made by laying freshly gathered flowers in a glass case, the lid of which is spread with a coating of lard half an inch thick. This, in the course of 12 or 24 hours, absorbs all the essential oil.

The lard requires many relays of flowers before it is sufficiently impregnated with perfume. Sometimes the supply is changed five or six times, or again as many as 80. The lard is finally melted and mixed with spirit, which, combining with the volatile oil, rises to the top and is captured and filtered.

There is a probability that Grasse will lose its picturesque beauty through being "improved" for the eye of the winter visitor. Queen Victoria's recent visit has given it an impetus, and now it longs for boulevards and villas such as make Cannes so prosperous and so commonplace.—Longman's Magazine.

Burning Common Water.

The very latest thing in the fuel line is made of water, "that useful element which tempers the excess of solar, artificial and animal heat." The above statement may appear to be "an improbable paradox," but it is a fact nevertheless that a gas is now made of pure water, and that that same gas is a splendid fuel. The principle of the manufacture of these water gases is to pass aqua pura over redhot irons, thus resolving it into the two inflammable substances known as hydrogen and carbonic oxide gas. As scarce as water now is in the United States, we had hoped that no new plans of getting rid of it would be invented.—St. Louis Republic.

An Eclipse to Order.

Dean Church has told a very good story about the eclipse of the sun in 1864. It appears that at Whatley, the dean's country parish, the eclipse was a failure. Some wag in the neighboring county town sent the common crier round to announce that, in consequence of the disappointment, the eclipse would be repeated next day. "I don't know," says the dean, "what effect the announcement had. I only know that the bellman took the fee and very solemnly went round the town crying the intelligence."

PROTECTION FROM LIGHTNING.

The Utility of Safety Rods—Some Interesting Statistics.

Lodge, one of the highest authorities, has said that any conductor (lightning rod) is better than none, although but few or none of them are absolute and complete safeguards. Some form of lightning rod is essential to anything like security. Putting aside the question of comparative cheapness of insurance against lightning and the cost of lightning rods, we can go at once to the matter as to how much lightning rods protect. In order to do this, it is necessary to get an idea of the nature of the action of lightning.

There exist all grades of lightning discharges, from the "steady strain," or gentle flow, of the electric current, comparable to the flow of water in a river with slow current, to the "impulsive rush," or intense disruptive electrical discharges of high momentum, which are comparable to an avalanche on a steep mountain side or a great flood. Where the discharge is of the former character, lightning rods do protect, but in the latter case even the best constructed conductors lose their efficiency just as a safety gate in a waterway would prove useless in the rush of waters of a great flood. It was such a disruptive discharge of lightning which caused the damage to the Washington monument on June 5, 1885. There are many flashes that are of an intensity which the human body can readily withstand.

Lightning rods should be either of copper tape weighing six ounces to the foot or of iron rod or tape weighing 35 ounces to the foot. The top of the rod should consist of clusters of points which have been plated to prevent corrosion or rust. The grounding of the rod should be in damp earth or running water, and independent grounds are preferable to water or gas main pipes. There is no definite area of protection depending on the height of the rod. The risk of a lightning stroke is about five times greater in the country than in the city. In fact, it is hardly necessary to place rods on the ordinary block dwelling houses of the city.

The region of greatest frequency of thunderstorms in the United States is in the southeastern portion, extending from Georgia to Mississippi, where 40 storms occur each year at the average. In the northern part of the United States not more than 20 occur, and on the New England coast but 10. The summer time is the time of greatest frequency. This occurs in May or June to the west and southwest of the great lakes, but the time is retarded to July and August, with progress toward the west, south and east of this region. The general direction of approach in the United States is from the west, but in southern Florida they approach from the east, thus following the direction of the general movement of the atmosphere.

About 260 people are killed annually by lightning in the United States. Of these casualties usually only one death occurs in each of January, February, November and December; in March, 3; April, 13; May, 28; June, 77; July, 63; August, 46; September, 15; October, 12. The annual loss by fire due to lightning strokes is estimated at $2,500,000. Of the annual number of 575 buildings set on fire, 370 were barns, stables and granaries, 24 churches and 131 dwellings.—New York Times.

A Millionaire's Watchdogs.

James Dobson, the millionaire carpet manufacturer, is a lover of fine dogs and has probably a dozen prowling about his mansion overlooking the great plant operated by the Dobsons at the falls of Schuylkill. Among them are a fine bloodhound and a handsome St. Bernard. The latter has taken possession of the coachhouse and surroundings, while the bloodhound prowls as master around the house.

Each watches his respective district during the daytime, and when one dog trespasses upon the territory of the other a bitter struggle, sometimes accompanied by bloodshed, is sure to occur. But as soon as darkness sets in the two dogs hobnob together in the most friendly manner, traveling over the premises at will. The cause of the daytime enmity and the after dark friendship cannot be accounted for by the owner.—Philadelphia Record.

—The Amboy Journal says that last Thursday, while unloading hay, the rope by which Mr. S. J. Stone was drawing back the hay fork broke, letting Mr. Stone fall backware to the barn floor striking his head. He was taken to the house and everything done for him but he died Friday evening. He was an old resident of Lee county held in high esteem, was in his 71st year, and an elder in the Reorganized church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

—Our correspondent was at Henry yesterday and saw one of the greatest races ever paced over a half mile track. On a track at least three seconds slower than the Pleasure Park track, Wheeler F. paced the first heat in 2:12½. Miss Williams won the second in 2:12¾. Wheeler F. was then drawn and Steel Prince then went at Miss Williams and made her go the third heat in 2:11¼. Miss Williams won the fourth heat and race in 2:18¼.

—One of the amusing incidents in connection with the lynching party at Morrison last evening occurred about midnight. During a short lull in the proceedings the proprietor of a dime museum being exhibited in Morrison, stepped on the platform about the water hydrant and expatiated at some length on the curiosities to be seen at his place and announced a matinee for this afternoon at 2 o'clock. This one act served to put the whole crowd in a better humor. When informed that he was enterprising he replied, "No, the crowd is here. I go where the crowd is."—Sterling Standard.

—Veterans who will attend the dedication of the national park at Chattanooga next month, and wish accommodations, should send two dollars before August 30, to Capt. Chas. F. Muller, Cattanooga, Tenn. In return will be sent a ticket entitling the holder to a comfortable barrack bunk for the entire time of his stay at Chattanooga, including safe storage for hand baggage, and toilet accommodations. It will be necessary for each person to bring his own blanket and towels. It will not be possible to furnish ladies with quarters at these barracks, or to supply meals or lunches in connection with them. Soldiers will note these facts, and avoid disappointment, as these quarters cannot be obtained on arriving in Chattanooga unless application shall have been made and two dollars sent and received not later than August 30, 1895.

Lee County Teachers' Institute.

One hundred and eighty three teachers are reported to have been in attendance at the annual Lee County Teachers' Institute, held in Amboy the present week. Those present from Dixon were Mary Erwin, Agnes C. Raymond, Agnes Holbrook, Florence Bosworth, Flora L. Seals, Linda Walgren, Ella J. Pratt, Grace E. Hoon, C. J. Fielding, Mary Downs, Gerturde Hatch Carrie Reynolds, Nellie Leahy, Ida Van Patten, Maggie O'Malley, Mary W. Lally, Florence Mason, Eleanor Hoon, Percy A. Smith, Edna S. Burnham, Mary O. Downing, Myrtle Robinson, Lou E. Pratt, Ollie Coe, E. A. Geer, Agnes Prindaville, Minnie G. Heckman, Anna M. Smith, G. A. Keller, Lawrence DeGraff, E. C. Smith and Wm. Jenkins.

The institute is reported to have been one of unusual interest, notwithstanding the heat of the weather, and for thoroughness of instruction, earnestness and a systematic, well planned program, it has never been excelled. The superintendents and principals of the schools in Dixon, Amboy, Pawpaw and Franklin Grove had charge of the several departments of instruction, and no time has been allowed to run to waste. Much credit is due to County Superintendent Edwards for the efficient manner in which he has conducted not only the institute, but the duties of his office generally. His efforts and ambition (in which he is ably seconded by all the experienced instructors in the county) is to raise the grade and build up to a better development all the schools in the county. Evidences of success are seen all along the line in the character of the work being done and the latest evidence is manifest in the interest and thoroughness of the teachers' institute held this week.

Camp Meeting Correspondence.

FRANKLIN GROVE, Aug. 14.

The following ministers arrived on the grounds and reported to the presiding elder, G. R. Vanhorne, as ready for duty since our last report: Rev. B. A. Dickens, Fulton; Edwin Breen, Lee; Rev. J. R. Hamilton, Mendota; Rev. W. J. Able, Steward; T. A. Brewster, Creston; Rev. Jas. Wardell, Evanston; Rev. John A. Whipple, Morrison, who had started for Mackinaw returned from Chicago today.

Among the Dixon people to arrive Wednesday were the pastor of the Dixon Methodist church, Rev. O. H. Cessna, who made the trip on his bicycle, Elias Bovey and wife, Mrs. Sallie Street, Mrs. Sibyl Potter, Mrs. Crippin, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. J. W. Depuy and Miss Bertha Depuy.

Grandmother Swartz of Dixon is missed by everybody. Last year she shook hands with over 4,000 people at one of the meetings. She is now at her home four miles north of Dixon.

James Brown of Ashton, who is 76 years old, is on the grounds again this year. He was here in 1881 when the first camp meeting was held here. He marked the contrast between the green lawn and shady trees now and the mud and slush fourteen years ago. Mrs. Thompson of Maringo is here also. She was one of the first campers on this ground the same year.

Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock the bell rang for early prayer meeting. It was led by Rev. Cass Davis, of Sterling, assisted by Rev. G. R. Vanhorne, the presiding elder. Hitchcock chapel was well filled at this meeting.

Rev. Frank Gardner, of Rock Falls, delivered the morning sermon Wednesday forenoon. Text: Matt. 6—9. He spoke of man's relation to God as taught by God's relation to man. He thought God was our Father because he created, preserved and best of all redeemed us.

Rev. Grover Clark, of Princeton, led the Epworth League meeting in place of Rev. O. H. Cessna, of Dixon. The latter pastor will have charge of these meetings after today.

An instructive bible reading was giving Wednesday forenoon by Rev. W. B. Norton, of Pawpaw.

Wednesday afternoon Rev. P. M. Powers, of Amboy, delivered a sermon from the text, "I know in whom I have believed," Paul's conversion. It was followed by a testimony meeting led by Rev. J. R. Hamilton, of Mendota.

The superintendent of the grounds, M. L. Norris, in speaking of the dining hall said that they had the best meals there this year of any and the Presiding Elder, who likes to eat good things shouted "Amen." VERNON ALLEN.

Assembly Drawing to a Close.

The Assembly is nearly over. Six hours more and the last soaring rocket will have signalled a bright farewell to to the assembled crowds. Tonight's attendance is estimated at five thousand. Nobody will sleep on the grounds tonight. Serenading parties will patrol the avenues and until dawn the young people will make night hideous. The fireworks display tonight will be very fine. Mr. Grant, the fireworks company's superintendent, is on the grounds and will have charge of the display. The Dixon Factory Band will give a concert at 7:00 p. m. and the Assembly talent will give an hours program, beginning at eight o'clock. Yesterday was temperance day. In the afternoon the boys and girls of the Loyal Temperance Legion paraded through the park avenues, carrying banners with appropriate inscriptions. At the Tabernacle Mrs. Divan, district president of the W. C. T. U., had charge of the exercises. An admirable paper was read by Mrs. Emmons of Rock Falls, on the work of the W. C. T. U. in this country. The principal address was given by Mrs. Helen Gougar of Indiana, who also lectured in the evening on the "Labor and Liquor Problems." Mrs. Gougar is a very earnest talker and upon occasion uses some very sarcastic language. Her discussion of the relation of labor to the saloon was an economical discourse. She proved that nine-tenths of the poverty in this country is due to the liquor traffic and that the appalling increase in crime can be traced directly to the existence of the saloon. Mrs. Gougar's audience was reasonably large and she was frequently applauded.

NOTES.

The Amphion quartet of Polo was present at the afternoon service and rendered several numbers. The young men sing exceptionally well.

Rev. W. J. Warner of Amboy broke camp yesterday and returned home with his family. He has been on the grounds for three weeks.

Magnificent weather for three weeks is the phenominal record of the Assembly for 1895.

Whittier's Birthplace.

In the town of Haverhill, Mass., near the Merrimac river, not far from Salisbury beach and in a house built by his great-great-grandfather more than two centuries ago, John Greenleaf Whittier was born on Dec. 17, 1807. For three generations before him the family had been connected with the Society of Friends, and all his life long Whittier retained the Quaker simplicity of manner and attire. He began early to do the chores of the household and also to aid his father in the work of the farm.

The house was surrounded by woods, and "a small brook, noisy enough as it foamed, rippled and laughed down its rocky falls" by the garden side and then wound its way to a larger stream, that, "after doing its duty at two or three saw and grist mills" (the clash of which would be heard in still days across the intervening woodlands), ran into the great river and was borne along to the great sea. Thus in early boyhood Whittier had a chance to get friendly and familiar with brooks and woods and rocky hills and all the other features of the New England landscape. He helped to care for the oxen and the horses, and he came to know the wilder animals which also lived on the farm.—Professor Brander Matthews in St. Nicholas.

Precocious.

Small boys have a way of listening to remarks that older persons make and using them when least expected. A mother was surprised the other day to have her young son reply to her when she was reproving him for some trifling misconduct: "Well, mamma, you must put up with me. You know I'm just at the trying age."—New York Times.

Obituary.

On Tuesday, Aug. 13th, at her home in Palmyra after an illness of short duration, Mrs. Eveline Seavey was called to her reward. Although in poor health the past year, her death was entirely unlooked for, and was a great shock to the community. Eveline Eastwood was born in Palmyra, Feb 2, 1843. She was united in marriage to Fletcher Seavey Nov. 9, 1862, and has lived in Palmyra during her entire life.

Mrs. Seavey was a woman of unostentatious worth. She was possessed of a happy, genial disposition, a loving sympathy and a manner characterized by cheerfulness and thoughtfulness of others. She was a great reader, and scarcely a subject could be touched upon that she was not conversant with. Though never physically strong, she was endowed with remarkable energy which was extended to the full limit of her strength in making her home a blessed retreat for her husband and family and a welcome place of resort to all her friends. The law of kindness so guided her that she won the confidence and esteem of all who knew her. The summons came suddenly and she passed almost painlessly into the home that is eternal.

She leaves a husband, six children and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss: a son, Fred, having died a year ago. It can be truly said of her in the language of Proverbs: "The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her so that he shall have no need of spoil." "She will do him good and not evil." "She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness." "Her children arise and call her blessed, her husband also and he praiseth her."

Hazardous Journalism.

The work of a reporter who sits in an office and undertakes to describe from a program printed a month or two in advance, events supposed to be happening ten or a dozen miles away, is sometimes more difficult than satisfactory. The Sterling Standard's Assembly reporter, if he could not be on the ground, is evidently determined not to be behind in giving his readers a well-written daily report of the Rock River Assembly, even though he has to depend on his imagination for his facts. Last week he gave an interesting description of Rev. Geo. W. Miller's advertised lecture on "The Good Old Times," a lecture which failed to materialize. Last evening, in his report of Monday's entertainment, he says:

"In the afternoon Rev. Geo. W. Miller, of Chicago, lectured in the tabernacle. His subject was "Humor of Pulpit and Pew." It was a finely constructed effort and was delivered in a masterly style. Mr. Miller is a fine orator, a splendid scholar, and is gifted with a rare appreciation of humor that is decidedly refreshing. He was heard by a large and appreciative audience, and he was frequently greeted with enthusiastic bursts of applause."

Now, this would be all right—probably—but for the slight inaccuracies that Mr. Miller's home is in Baltimore instead of Chicago, and the fact that during this Assembly he has not been within a thousand miles of Dixon. But such little matters are of not much moment. Then the Standard's reporter goes on to speak of Col. Bain's lecture, "Among the Masses," as follows:

"The Colonel proved himself to be a great reader and thinker. He was perfectly conversant with his subject, and delivered the lecture in that free and graceful manner that marks the perfect orator. The lecture was highly appreciated and resulted in giving the large audience a vast amount of information. This is Mr. Bain's first appearance at the Assembly, and the impression he made upon the campers is very flattering."

This statement is about equally correct with the foregoing. In place of its being the Colonel's first appearance, he is an old favorite with our Assembly people. His lecture, instead of being in any sense oratorical, was a didactic talk interspersed with pleasing anecdotes. It was a series of reflections upon characteristics found among the masses, and while not any attempt at disseminating information, was replete with wit and wisdom, and showed the speaker to be possessed of clear perceptive and fine descriptive faculties rather than a great reader and thinker. Of the Colonel's second lecture, the Standard man says, "His theme on this occasion being "Our Country, Our Home and Our Duty." We have not space here to suggest even the line of thought along which Col. Bain spoke." Well, we should think not, inasmuch as that was not the subject of his lecture, which was changed to "The Golden Gate, or the age and land in which we live." Try again, Standard, you may hit it next time.

MAY.

"Now, who art thou, my dainty maid?"
"I'm April's sister, sir," she said,
Then smiled so heavenly sweet,
And making me a courtesy fine
She dropped an armful of sunshine
Right down about my feet.
Her blush was like the apple blow,
Her eyes like violets that grow
Beside the meadow stream.
Oh, buttercups alone would dare
To match the bright gold of her hair,
And all the air did seem
Rich freighted with her fragrant breath.
Now surely happy nature saith,
"Thrice welcome, maiden May."
